Food and Beverage Manufacturing Industry Specified Skilled Worker (ii) Test: Guide to Domestic Tests

1. Regarding the Food and Beverage Manufacturing Industry Specified Skilled Worker (ii) Test

Foreign nationals accepted under the Specified Skilled Worker (ii) status in the food service industry must meet the practical experience requirements established by the Japanese government and pass the Food and Beverage Manufacturing Industry Specified Skilled Worker (ii) Test (hereinafter referred to as the “Specified Skilled Worker (ii) Test” or “Test”).

To take the Food Service Industry Specified Skilled Worker (ii) Test, companies operating in the food service or food manufacturing industries that directly employ foreign workers must register for a corporate account and register examinees via the OTAFF website.

If you would like to learn more about applying for the “Specified Skilled Worker” status of residence, please contact the Immigration Services Agency of Japan of the Ministry of Justice.

For inquiries regarding matters other than the Food Service Industry Specified Skilled Worker (ii) Test and the Food and Beverage Manufacturing Industry Specified Skilled Worker (ii) Test, please contact us via the “CONTACT” link on the OTAFF homepage.

2. Eligibility Requirements

To be eligible to take the Specified Skilled Worker (ii) Test in Japan, you must satisfy all of the following criteria (1) through (4).

- (1) Individuals who hold a status of residence (Note 1) on the day of the test
- (2) individuals who are at least 17 years of age on the day of the test
- (3) A person holding a passport (Note 2) issued by a foreign government or an authorized agency of a region designated by the Minister of Justice in a public notice as cooperating in the smooth enforcement of deportation order
- (4) When applying for examinee registration, it must be confirmed that the applicant has at least two years of practical experience (hereinafter referred to as “management and practical experience”) in the food and beverage manufacturing sector, working while supervising multiple workers and managing production processes. (Note 3)

(Note 1) Individuals residing in Japan in compliance with Japanese law are eligible to take the test. Even if you do not have a Residence Card, you can still take the test as long as you are staying in Japan legally for a short period. Individuals residing in Japan without complying with Japanese law (illegal residents) are not eligible to take the test.

(Note 2) Currently, this applies to passports issued by foreign governments or regions other than the Islamic Republic of Iran.

(Note 3) Since this verification requires the company to issue a certificate of work experience to OTAFF, applicants must register for the Specified Skilled Worker (ii) Test through a company that has registered for the Corporate My Page. If you only have a personal account, you cannot apply for the Food and Beverage Manufacturing Industry Specified Skilled Worker (ii) Test.

- Passing this test does not guarantee that you will be granted the “Specified Skilled Worker” status of residence.
- Even if you pass the test and apply for a Certificate of Eligibility for Residence Status or a change of status of residence, there is no guarantee that you will receive the Certificate of Eligibility.
- Even if you receive a Certificate of Eligibility, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs
